Customer Examples

Offering competitively priced household goods movement for U.S. university faculty

A world-renowned U.S. university relies on Agility International's relocation team to handle the movement of faculty and staff's household goods from its main campus in Texas to its satellite campus in Doha, Qatar. Agility has successfully aided the relocation of hundreds of university personnel in recent years. Whether a shipment needs special packing, special storage, or expedited packing and transport, Agility has managed the safe and secure transport for leading educators and campus staff. Our global footprint, combined with our network of partner airlines and trusted trucking companies, has resulted in securing competitive rates.

Managing European suppliers brings efficiency to Qatar oil project

An oil and gas company successfully developed Al Shaheen field's thin reservoirs scattered across vast distances. However, it had difficulty managing the European suppliers contracted to supply goods and equipment to various aspects of its operation in Qatar. Garbled communications and an inefficient control system led to delivery delays and escalating costs. Agility Denmark brought order to the process by managing all the European suppliers and consolidating cargo in Esbjerg, where Agility operates a world-class warehouse. To reduce the high customs clearance fees in Qatar, Agility's dedicated account and operations management teams prepare a weekly document that captures the activity of all European suppliers so it only has to clear customs as one shipment.
