Customer Example

Operations management for food processing company yields cost reductions

A world-leading food processing company was facing challenges in managing its inventory, which includes frozen poultry. It had high volumes and rapid stock turnover, and it needed fast replenishments of goods and help managing stock during peak times. Agility now runs its operations in Riyadh. We provide multiple temperature storage options, co-packing and labeling, forecasting and replenishment, demand planning and order fulfillment. Currently, we handle more than 22,000 pallets per month of frozen products, store more than 4,000 tons and distribute 22,000 cases every day. The client attributes its significant cost reductions, market penetration and growth forecasting to Agility's inventory management solutions.
